Notes:

1. For AKC, the 12" dog times are used for Small, the 16" times are used for Medium, and the 20"/26" times are used for Large
2. AKC gets 5 seconds added to the above SCT in Standard for the table
3. AKC jumpers also has weaves in it which need to be considered when comparing times
4. USDAA and CPE give a range of SCT for each division, the judge can pick a time anywhere between the min and max depending on the course and/or conditions but can not go below the minimum
5. USDAA does NOT add any additional time for the table in Standard
6. CPE does not have small-med-large, they wheel for 20" dogs and use a SCT range, adding 5 seconds to the time for 4-8-12 if course is less than 150 yds, and 10 seconds if course is more than 150 yds
7. Level 1 Standard for CPE is left off the list because it does not have a teeter or weaves in the course so it is like ASCA Pre-novice
8. NADAC adds 10% to the large dog time for medium dogs and 20% to large dog time for small dogs (the percentage is not added to the YPS, it is added to the large dog calculated time)
9. For ASCA and AKC there is only one YPS (not a range) therefore the same time is shown for min and max so the average could be calculated between all venues
10. NADAC times are not included in the averages because of the way their times are calculated as a percentage added to the large dog times
