

Clean Run®

THE MAGAZINE FOR DOG AGILITY ENTHUSIASTS

JANUARY 08 VOLUME 14 NUMBER 1

11 When Pigs Fly: Agility Success with "Impossible" Dogs

What does it matter which cross you put where, if your dog's nose is glued to the ground at the start line? Learn some techniques for teaching challenging dogs that are not predisposed to working with you. By Jane Killion

24 Trainer's Forum

This month's group of trainers offers suggestions to other agility instructors to help them solve the dilemma of trying to run their own dogs while still making time to deal with their students' needs during trials. By Brenna Fender

51 A Chute of a Different Color

The collapsed tunnel can be a challenge for a dog to master. It is a real leap of faith for a dog to run through the fabric, not knowing what's on the other side. If your dog is having problems with the chute, could the color of the fabric be part of the problem? By Rick Parry

Features

5 Editorializing: The Straight Story on Some Surprising Questions

By Monica Percival

16 On Course with Ali Roukas-Canova

Known for her system of teaching running contacts, Ali Roukas-Canova reveals her thoughts on what makes a well-trained, successful agility team. By Diane Goodspeed

32 Spy Kids: Happy Birthday!

The pups have reached their first birthday. This month we focus on jumping and handling drills, including lead-outs as well as 180 and 270 work. By Nancy Gyes

59 Shelter Champs: Ben

Meet Ben, a Pembroke Welsh Corgi that was rescued from an SPCA shelter in Brooksville, Florida and that has gone on to earn an agility championship. By Lisa Barrett

63 Focus on Fun

Making agility training and trialing fun for your dog needs to be your first focus in agility. Mistakes will always happen, but noting and saving them for a planned future training session can help us not to overemphasize their importance and to continue on in the ring. By Deborah Jones, Ph.D.

74 Cece's Gym Exercise of the Month: Get on the Ball Basics

Any dog competing in agility should possess good core muscle strength; that is, good strength of both back and abdominal muscles. Learn how to strengthen your dog's core using a theraball. By Debbie Gross Saunders

81 Dealing with People Who Just Don't Get It

Do your non-agility friends and family understand the glories of your agility runs? If not, you can always call a friend to celebrate your triumphs and commiserate with you over your mistakes. By Elizabeth Dott

Columns

6 Tip of the Month By Diane Weisbrodt

7 Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Agility...

8 Backyard Dogs By Karen Holik

29 Skill of the Month By Karen Holik

67 In Cider By Bill Gates

71 Distance Challenge By Jane Simmons-Moake

82 Course Diagram Keys

Cover

20 Balance at the Start Line

Jumping problems can begin before your dog even leaves the start line. If your dog's starting position is unbalanced, it can jeopardize much more than the first bar. By Susan Salo

38 Foundation Fundamentals: Dealing with Distractions, Part 1

Need some training ideas that don't involve agility equipment? Let's work on your dog's impulse control around distractions. By Mary Ellen Barry

43 Speeding Up Your Two-on/Two-off Contacts

Speed and drive on the contact obstacles come from a dog that fully understands the behavior you desire. Suitable rewards and regular maintenance training further reinforce fast and consistent contact performance. By Rachel Sanders

54 Using Periodization to Create Peak Performance

Learn how to plan your training time so that you and your dog can perform at your peak at important events during the year. By Webb Anderson

Cover Dog

MACH3 ADCH Meadowlake's I Just Might, JE, a.k.a. Maybe, an 11 1/2-year-old Jack Russell Terrier owned by Dana Pike of Illinois. Photo by Doghouse Arts, doghousearts.com